CEO Comments

"We are very pleased with another year of record performance and our recent capital markets activities, which prefunded our equity needs for 2023 and will allow us to opportunistically execute across all three external growth platforms," said Joey Agree, President and Chief Executive Officer. "While not providing 2023 investment guidance at this time, our robust liquidity profile enables us to achieve investment volumes proximate to our 2022 activity while remaining within our targeted leverage range without raising additional equity. As the macro-economic environment remains uncertain, we will be opportunistic and disciplined while investing capital and remain averse to moving up the risk spectrum."
